Mr. J. F. Russell, abstract clerk in Citizens bank, received the sad intelligence yesterday morning that his brother-in-law, William, Indiana, was dead. He left a fine home lot on his land mission, and he has the sympathy of many friends in this city.

James W. Eno has arrived in the city, and his goods are on the way, and he will be ready for business about the first of December. He will occupy the Vanhook building on West Douglas next to the Citizens bank with a large stock of furniture.

Mr. Sauter, of the Mystic River, Conn., has been working on a new paper cutter, the latest cutter made, was in the city yesterday. The EAGLE has a three thousand pound paper cutter of the Sauter make and its action is perfect.

Mr. J. J. Lee, of the Clark County Clipper, was in the city yesterday. This was Mr. Lee's first visit to Wichita, and he says prepared as he was for big things, the city was all beyond what he imagined. Asks him reports are growing rapidly and solidly, and Clark county, of which it is the county seat coming rapidly to the front.

Mr. W. A. Fannum has returned from Pennsylvania, bringing with him his fair bride, who is welcomed to her new western home. Mrs. P., who is a very comely and very intelligent lady, expresses herself as well pleased with the great rolling prairie and with the life and people of our bright city. Mr. and Mrs. Fannum expect to get to you in a few days, and we take pleasure in seeing our society people that id for of Mrs. P. they will find a most enjoyable member.

THE CHRISTIAN COMMONWEALTH.

Some time since the Eagle made note of the fact of the presence in our city of Timothy Coop, of London, an extensive traveler and a noted philanthropist. He came over to America to attend a Christian convention and came to Wichita because he heard so much of the place and because here was to be erected the Garfield University named for the man whom Mr. Coop personally knew and admired. But when we wrote our notice we were not aware of the fact that Mr. Coop was the proprietor of a great religious weekly published in London called the Christian Commonwealth, an undenominational paper, independent in everything and very ably edited. It is a paper not only largely quoted for its sound and advanced views on evangelical work but contains the sermons of Dr. Alexander MacLaren. It is also devoted largely to the international Sunday school work. Besides these it fosters general evangelization, not sectarian work, for the entire world. It has a home department, contains ships of the British parliament, stands for temperance, etc., etc., numbering many noted English writers among its contributors. It is one of the cheapest and best religious papers published in the world. The subscription price is six shillings and six pence per annum. This great paper in its next issue will contain an article on Wichita from the pen of Mr. Coop, who is still in the city. Such of our readers as would like a great religious and undenominational paper ought to see Mr. C. and secure it at least for a few months.

SOME FUN.

Warwick Lodge Knights of Pythias have secured Homer D. Cope, of New York, in his two famous entertainments of "Damon and Pythias" or the test of "True Friendship," and "Humorous Evening," which is his recitation from funny writers, such as Mark Twain, Bill Nye, etc.

Mr. Cope is engaged for Dec. 10th and 11th at G. A. R. hall and the comments of the press, which have been, shows that his entertainments are meritorious and pleasing. The following is from the Chicago Tribune:

One of the most novel, ambitious, and successful programmes ever presented in Chicago was the recital of "Damon and Pythias" by the dramatic reader Homer D. Cope, on Friday night.

That anyone can succeed in the rendition of play whose characters are so widely different is a matter of surprise, yet the complete success attained by Mr. Cope cannot be questioned. It was an appreciative and delighted audience which greeted Mr. Cope on his first appearance in Chicago.

COLLISION.

Sunday afternoon there was a very narrow escape from a disastrous and perhaps fatal railroad collision in the yards of the Fort Scott railroad.

The north bound train had arrived at the depot on the west side and for fear that it might, in the dense fog, cross the bridge and collide with the south bound train then standing before the city depot, the switch engine was sent to the west side with instructions to have the train held. The engineer in the fog saw the train approaching, and believing his life in danger, hastily reversed his engine and with the fireman leaped to the ground. The switch engine now uncontrolled came towards the city depot with great speed, and would have run directly into the engine of the waiting train had not the switchman the presence of mind to turn it aside. This he did, but the wild engine in going on the switch struck the cowcatcher of the other engine, and badly wrecked it. The engineer kept his position upon his engine until the other was upon him and then leaped, narrowly escaping with his life.

The switch engine was stopped by the collision, but was a complete wreck.

The accident attracted great attention, and soon a crowd of people had congregated at the depot. The wrecking train was immediately telegraphed for, and soon arrived; yesterday there was hardly a vestige left of the debris of the collision.

SNIPER TRIP.

A sneak thief stole a lap-robe and hand valise case from Dr. J. E. Bennett at his residence, 634 S. Lawrence ave., last night about 10 o'clock. The doctor had been visiting some patients and returned about the hour mentioned above, and while putting his home in the hall left the baggy for a few minutes, when on returning he found the articles gone and to trace of the thief. Search was immediately made, but to no good purpose. The police were informed, but as yet have not been able to run down the thief. The doctor says he does not care for the robe, but the case cannot be replaced this side of St. Louis.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

The "Bound to Success" Company was the attraction at the Opera House last night. There was a good sized crowd in attendance. The plot was not bad; full of blood and thunder at first, but softened down somewhat towards the close. Miss Blair who had the leading lady character Agnes Hastings, in some parts rose to a high degree of passionate acting. Harry Dool Parker as McSwaggon attracted some applause, but Mr. Parnell who had Fitzgerald was the most finished actor.

SOUTHWESTERN TEACHERS ASSOCIATION.

This association will meet at the First Presbyterian church on Thursday evening, and will be in session until Friday evening. It embraces all the counties in the south central part of the state, and will be largely attended and the exercises will be of a very interesting and instructive character.

ON THE RAGGED EDGE.

Some of the old condemned wooden awnings on North Main still hold the fort, although the last day allowing their existence has passed. Many have been moved and the fact others are still to be seen is drawing out no little criticism from some. They think that the city council should invite the owners to comply with the ordinance, and if not obeyed make the wooden structures go anyway.

POLICEMEN'S BALL.

The police are making extensive preparations for their ball tonight. The supper will be furnished by Messrs. Hamilton & Bell, of the Model Cafe, and they say that they will spare neither pains nor expense to set an elegant repast.

VICTIM OF A KNIFE.

While one of the bluntest of bluns of the city was sleeping Sunday night in a house of ill repute, an inmate of the establishment took advantage of his slumbers and inflicted with a knife what is thought to be a mortal wound. At a late hour last night however, he was alive.

WAS IT THE BIG CROWD

That Frightened the Member of the Railroad Committee out of his Former Position.

The City Library Gets the Black eye and is Lent out for Keeping. - More Gas - Maple Street Bridge.

City council met last night in council chamber with all the members present and his honor, the mayor in the chair. There was a large crowd present, the hall scarcely affording standing room. The general belief that the council had allowed a large amount of business to pile up and as a result, many questions of importance would be put in an appearance seemed sufficient to cause no little interest to be manifested by the public in the meeting.

Before the mass fell, calling to order, the councilmen were heard questioning each other in order to find out how many had brought with them a midnight lunch as it was expected that a lengthy session was on hand. The cause for alarm was however, overestimated. The railway ordinances being knocked summarily back into their accustomed resting place allowed the members to return home by an honest bed time and be "fresh for the ball tonight," as one of them expressed it.

The public improvement committee represented by Mr. Healy commenced a report. He first estimated the cost of the work in the different departments of the Topeka avenue sewer. The entire cost of the sewer is $4,000.07 which makes each foot cost $1.37.

Mr. Healy then referred to the river bank question. He said he had investigated the question and one of the gentlemen who had been making town lots for himself said that both the county commissioners and the councilmen of the Fifth ward had given their consent for him to extend the bank of the river. Mr. Healy had asked both parties and they seemed to think that the gentleman was mistaken in his assertion.

His investigation had caused him to believe that the channel of the river is now four hundred feet narrower than it was in 1877, the year of the last disastrous flood. The building of the street car bridge had taken about seventy five feet of the river channel. He said he believed a flood no larger than the one mentioned would do a great deal of damage.

The parties who have filled in have no title to the land, as any one can find out by going up to the U. S. land office.

Ridley moved that the matter of placing the banks of the river where they should be referred to the street committee and city attorney with power to act.

Harris - By request of many citizens would ask that a crossing be put in on First street opposite the G. A. R. building. Was so ordered.

Hoff, as chairman of the gas committee, recommended seven gas lights on North Topeka and Emporia avenues. His report was adopted, and three gas lights ordered on Waco avenue, and the same number on South Topeka avenue and the same number on South Emporia avenue.

Up to this point of the proceedings there had nothing happened that seemed to command especial interest, but an intense interest was manifested all the time thinking that when the railroad committee was called out there would be no time for catching flies or playing with the watch chain. The call for the report of the railroad committee brought the chairman, Mr. Carey, to his feet. He commenced by narrating his failures so far in getting the Santa Fe road to improve its crossings in the city. He then stated that he had notified some employees of the street car company three times by telephone to repair some places along their line, but no attempt at the same had been commenced. He did not know whether the employees had told Mayor Powell or not.

He then referred to the ordinance granting the right of way to motor lines and the Wichita & Winfield bond ordinance and said that he had intended to make a report on same until some of the council had convened. One of the members of the committee had asked to have the matter postponed two more weeks and he consequently asked that amount of time.

The report was adopted amid no little noise and ruse, while some looked as though they wanted to say "rats." It was intimated that the crowd was too large for any action on the subject.

Upon motion of Healy the fire department was instructed to flush the sewer two times per week.

Mr. Healy as chairman of the library committee recommended that when the time of the present library expires all books be given over to the Y. M. C. A., which association had agreed to take care of the books and return them to the city when desired.

Mr. Healy submitted a minority report asking that the library be kept by the city but if shut up the books should be returned to the old library association. His report failed and Healy's was adopted.

Mr. Healy said that he had been asked by a number of individuals to assist in getting the city to build the approach to the Maple street bridge on the east side. He said that it should be piled about three hundred feet yet and not filled in as that would narrow the channel of the river.

Mr. Kenyon asked that the city make the approach on the west side. It was finally agreed that if the company would put in one hundred and fifty feet more piling on the east side.

The clerk then commenced on an ordinance which provided to be from the Wichita Mining and Investment company, asking the privilege to lay gas mains on the streets of the city. The company proposes to bore for natural gas at an early date and will furnish the city gas light if the enterprise proves successful. The company wanted the ordinance passed before commencing work on the well. At first there seemed to be a disposition on the part of some to suspend rules and pass the ordinance, but some hesitation on the part of one or two caused action to be deferred until the next regular meeting.

The mayor stated that Attorney O. H. Beatty was desirous of addressing the council. Mr. Beatty appeared and spoke to the council concerning the ordinance granting the right of way to the Kansas Millard railroad. He was very desirous that the question be disposed of at an early date as a delay might work an injury. When he had finished the council took up its usual gait and went about business.

The appraiser appointed to assess the value of property taken to open up Lawrence avenue from Oak to Thirteenth street reported that the damage would amount to $2,450. The report was not adopted but further time asked in order to see how much would be donated.

By this time it was 9:50 o'clock and the council had grown prematurely tired. Nothing could be introduced that could be interesting enough to draw out the mental efforts of the average member except an occasional sidewalk petition. "Give them thirty days to build it" was always the answer. Gas lights wanted was only an extra temptation to refer it - committee with power to act. Even the electric light which was so earnestly sought by some at the corner of Fifth avenue and Waterman street was referred to the gas committee after some unedifying remarks.

DING DONG.

The Y. M. C. A. hall was crowded last evening with young men to hear the lecture of Rev. Adams. The subject as announced was "Ding Dong," and the lecturer handled in such a pleasing and interesting way as to hold the closest attention of his audience.

He commenced by calling attention to the advice given by Mr. Hatfield in the former lecture as to the study of biography; and commended highly the study of lives of prominent men particularly of Americans. In citing examples he referred to Tom Benton; and said from him came the subject of the evening's lecture. In the smoking room of the sleeping car he once asked a divine what was the greatest word in the English language. The latter after several unsuccessful guesses asked Benton what it was. "Ding-dong," he replied.

Then he spoke of the great amount that could be accomplished by ding-donging; drawing his examples from law, theology and politics. In every mighty upheaval in religion or politics mighty men have gone first to ding-dong. Christ himself was an ample and gave the same instruction to his disciples when he told them: "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel."

Three questions arise: What to ding-dong about? How to ding-dong, and when?

To the first, he said that while a man should be in sympathy with his hearers, he should at the same time speak and insist upon what he believes. We must be honest and thoroughly understand what we ding-dong.

How? Honestly. The clergy ought to strike - not for higher wages, although they are low enough - but for the right to utter their honest convictions. Be natural; don't try to do a thing like any one else. He referred as an example to Murray and Phillips Brooks.

Where? Everywhere. He related an incident of his own endeavor to do a man good when traveling.

The most important ding-dong is that for the soul of man. In all, be a man, and let everyone understand it. Everyone respects a man. Christ was himself one of the manliest of men. The warrior element must be in man or he is not a man nor a Christian. Above everything be manly in your Christianity, be manly in your efforts to raise up mankind.

MEETING OF BOARD OF TRUSTEES.

The board of trustees of the Wichita university held a meeting Saturday night and yesterday afternoon at Mr. N. E. Niederlander's office. The object was to elect officers for the board, adopt by-laws and a constitution, and examine the different plans submitted by the architects for the university building.

Rev. B. B. Shney was elected president; T. B. Wall, vice-president; C. S. Eichholtz, secretary; L. D. Skinner, treasurer; Rev. J. W. Love, corresponding secretary.

The plans submitted by architects Dumont & Hayward were finally adopted. The building will have a west front of one hundred feet six feet deep and three stories high with basement. The out basement will be receptacle for all coal and heating apparatus. The basement story will contain eight rooms. The second story in the departments very much resembles the first.

In the third story will be the chapel and the two society rooms. The chapel will seat near six hundred and each society room hold that number.

Each story will be supplied with two flights of stairs. The building will be heated by the Rattan system. The whole building will cost something over $25,000.

It has not yet been decided whether brick or stone will be used in erecting the building. There seems to be a general desire on the part of the board to use stone alone, and the decision will probably be for stone.

The board of trustees also appointed a number of committees who were assigned work.

The board propose to advertise for bids immediately and commence work on the building at an early date. It is desired to get the foundation finished, this fall which will be a good start indeed.

THE EXCURSION PARTY.

Last Sunday near noon an excursion party arrived in the city over the Ft. Scott from McPherson. The train on leaving McPherson was composed of four crowded coaches containing near two hundred and fifty people. One more coach was added before reaching Wichita, and the party swelled to three hundred.

It is thought that five hundred people would have joined the excursion from McPherson had it not been so foggy. This caused them to imagine that a new road and excursion train was by far too dangerous to be safe.

The train left the city on its return trip at 4:45 in the evening. Near 3 o'clock the McPherson band gave an open air concert at the Occidental hotel. A number of selections were rendered in a highly creditable manner. This was one of the many pleasing features of the day.

The visitors spent most of the time taking in the metropolis. Many were heard say that Wichita had been becoming more and more and seemed to be thoroughly convinced that it had become a fast.

HORSES STOLEN.

A gentleman named Kirby who lives about five miles east of the city drove a nice span of horses into the city Sunday evening and stopped with a relative. On yesterday morning both horses had disappeared and an old jaded horse left in their place.

Mr. Ross who is interested in a feed store on Topeka avenue found Monday morning that some one had relieved him of one of his horses during the former night.

Mr. Longmeyer who lives in the north part of the city had a horse stolen from him on Sunday night.

The three gentlemen who have lost the four horses have entered into a joint hunting company with an eye to business. They mean to make an extensive search and prolonged chase before giving the chase up. It is generally believed that the whole party stand in together. The matter has been given over to the county officials who are doing all in their power to overtake them.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Goldstadt, parents of A. M. Goldstadt, returned home to St. Mary's yesterday.

BURGLARS.

Sunday morning it was discovered by Mr. Holland, the clerk at J. R. Holliday & Co's grocery, No. 227 East Douglas, that burglars had effected an entrance to the store by springing the lock at the rear door. A further investigation showed that there had also been an unsuccessful attempt to open the safe. The outer door had been opened by drilling a hole near the lock, and thus breaking the combination. A hole had also been drilled in the inner door, but the thieves, who were evidently novices in safe breaking, had miscalculated, for they struck a bar running the length of the door. From some cause they made no further effort with the drill.

There was discovered however a large quantity of gunpowder in the safe by which means it appeared that they were about to force an entrance. If they had succeeded they would have obtained quite a sum of money and also some valuable papers.

They molested nothing else in the store, not even taking the change that was in the money drawer or any goods from the shelves.

DISTRICT COURT.

The panelling of the jury in the McClintock case was completed yesterday forenoon, and it stood as follows: Samuel Maxwell, James Antrina, W. J. Adams, J. F. Poe, M. A. Carr, John Copner, I. N. Dean, Levi Roach, N. F. Blackburn, W. D. Woodfender, J. C. Vanfleson, H. M. Bruce.

After a statement of the case by the prosecutor the witnesses for the state were examined. Mrs. Sheldon, mother of the defendant, was first called. She gave a statement of the married life of the couple and of the affair before and at the time of the killing. She was followed by Dr. Parley, James McKennon, Jas. S. McPherson, Mary McPherson, W. P. Lowry, Cynthia Fitzgerald, and lastly, E. E. Skelton, father of the dead girl.

After a short recess the defense was stated by Mr. Campbell. He said they expected to show that the defendant was the subject of continued misfortunes that led to an insanity, and made him an innocent of any crime as a new born babe. Insanity, they expected to prove, was a disease, and not a moral condition of an individual. The defendant, as a boy, was weak, feeble and erring; at one time he fell while playing with his brother, was carried home for dead, and for a long time lay in an unconscious condition. At another time while skating he became so badly frightened that he went into a fever from which there was little hopes of his recovery. At the age of nine he was discovered to be a victim of a pernicious habit that shattered his constitution, made him melancholy and wrecked his intellect. At the age of seventeen he was talking of committing suicide. They expected too, to prove by good medical authority a man may be perfectly rational on all but one point, and yet be insane. The father had no knowledge of the marriage until a few days before the ceremony was to take place, that he then tried to strangle his son from such an act. That there was a predisposition to insanity in the family, his brother being insane, and with several of his other relations in the asylum. That he found in the supposed unfaithfulness of his wife to him an aggravation to commit the deed; that he impudently before the fatal tragedy completely untried his mind. That his attention of having no intention to carry out her prophetic dream on the night before her death, shows the act was not premeditated. While they do not deny the killing, they deny that it was murder.

Court was then adjourned until this morning, when the evidence for the defense will be introduced.

JUSTICE COURT.

A warrant was issued yesterday in Walker's court for Ed. Lumpkin, who was charged with assaulting Mr. Geo. C. Smalley. Both parties live about five miles southeast of the city.

The case of H. F. Friend, charged with embezzling real estate, was given a preliminary hearing yesterday in Walker's court, and continued until Wednesday.

The case of Dr. Bain, who was charged with selling the ardent, came up yesterday in Garrison's court. The case had been brought on complaint of two men who were desired as witnesses, but were not present. The court issued an order for the witnesses to pay the costs, and dismissed the case. If they don't pay the costs, they will probably be given a chance to be heard it out.

The case of J. F. Felton against the proprietors of the European hotel was called yesterday in Garrison's court, but continued until Wednesday next. The complaint alleged to receive payment for property belonging to him stolen from his hotel some days ago.

An attempt was made to pull a joint on North Main street yesterday, but failed. It is now seriously thought by some that the shadow of the county building falls not on any institution of that kind.

A colored lad named Cunningham was seen on the street Sunday wearing an overcoat which very much resembled the one sometime shown last by Mr. W. J. Brown. He was arrested and yesterday given a trial before Justice Thomas, and given a fine of $20 and imprisonment for sixty days.

POLICE COURT.

The usual Monday morning reception was held, and as usual a goodly number of salubrious breakers were ushered in before his honor.

William Johnson, whom Clark introduced, was fined $7.

Charles Meyers came in with policeman Lilly, and as he failed to pay a fine of $5 for drunkenness, was committed.

L. E. Lytle and Mike Cook were escorted in by Tom McManis and each fined $5 for being drunk. Lytle paid but Mike was committed.

Jan turned in $27 each from T. Frankland & H. Hambrick, violators of the liquor ordinance.

The morning reception was then closed by inflicting a fine of $7 upon O. J. Wright for carrying concealed weapons. He paid bond and has the remainder will accept him.

RECOVERED.

Friday evening an overcoat belonging to W. J. Brown, of Adirack A. Brown, disappeared, leaving no possible clue as to who stole it in the disappearance. The matter was given to the police, and Officer McManis, on having a sample of the goods, kept a close lookout. Finding afterwards he saw a colored man named James Cunningham walking down West Douglas wearing a coat resembling this sample. He arrested him and finally obtained the confession that he had found it in the alley in the rear of Mr. Brown's home. He was arrested and locked up in the cooler.

Marriage licenses were yesterday issued to Otto Brumme and Margaret Meyer, both of West Wichita; Charles Short and Cynthia Allen Fleming, both of Keshi township.
